Animal rescue

At 11 o'clock...
A storm is coming. The sky gets cloudy. The wind starts blowing hard. The branches of the trees are moving. The farmer's ladder falls down. Farmer Brown stops singing.

Help, Erica! Help!

It's 9 o'clock in the morning on the Brown farm. The sun is shining. The cows are eating grass. The ducks are swimming. The pigs are playing. Farmer Brown is picking apples and singing a song. All the animals and the farmer are happy.

Erica can't hear him. She's in the farmhouse. She's doing her chores and listening to music. Poor Farmer Brown! What can he do?

Now read the story in groups.
Listen to the second part of the story.

Cows, please help me!
Pigs, come and help me!

Only the little mouse hears Farmer Brown. He tells the cows and the pigs and the goats. They want to help. What can they do?

At 12 o’clock, it’s still raining. The wind is very loud. Farmer Brown needs help, but the cows and pigs don’t hear him. Farmer Brown is scared!

They have a great idea. All the animals run and get some hay.

Farmer Brown jumps out of the tree. The hay is very soft. They’re all happy again.

Farmer Brown, we can help you! Jump into the hay!

Now read the story in groups.

In New Zealand, summer is from December to February. Winter is from June to August.

There are four million people, nine million cows and forty million sheep!

There are two languages, English and Maori. The Maori phrase for “Hello!” is “Kia ora!”

There are lots of farms in New Zealand. They produce meat, cheese, fruits and vegetables.

Hi! I’m Paul. My favorite animal is a kiwi. Kiwis are birds. They’re the national symbol of New Zealand.

Kiwi is also the name of a fruit. It’s healthy and delicious!
Bees use nectar to make honey. Bees get nectar from flowers. Nectar is almost 80% water with some complex sugars.

Honey is very popular in New Zealand, but where does it come from?

The farmer takes out the honey and puts it into jars. Then, we can eat it!

Finally, the bees put the nectar in the honeycombs. The water evaporates from it, making it into a thick syrup. The bees help the nectar dry by moving their wings.

Then, the bees return to the hive and pass the nectar to the worker bees. They suck the nectar from the bee’s stomach through their mouths.

The workers chew the nectar for half an hour. During this time, the complex sugars turn into simple sugars.

They use their long tongues to suck the nectar out of the flowers.

Bees keep nectar in their “honey stomachs.” They have two stomachs—a honey stomach for nectar and a regular stomach.
